

Class: Economics

Teacher: Bethany Barnosky

Choosing the right class can be tricky, and we want to make the process as easy as possible. We are committed to your student's success, in this year's class(es) as well as their future academic pursuits. Is your student ready for Economic? Let's find out!

- Grade level 10+
- Your student has taken basic Algebra. Note: Algebra skills are not required, but a bit of Algebraic thinking is. If your student understands basic line graphs, they should be just fine :)
- Your student has mastered planner usage, organizing school work, and reading textbooks, and can execute these skills independently
- Your student has reasonable time management skills and has basic note-taking and general study skills.
- Your student adheres to the highest standards of academic integrity.

Your student is well prepared for success in Economics.

- Grade level 9+
- Your student is excited about studying economics. They are interested in the choices we make -- both financially and in our everyday lives.
- Your student is practicing planner usage, organizing school work, reading textbooks, note-taking, and general study skills. They are receiving consistent at-home support in these skills.
- Your student values integrity but may not fully understand what plagiarism is. (Please check out www.plagiarism.org for more information.)

You can support your student in their Economics studies.

Your student can be successful! They just need your support to maximize their learning.

- Grade level ≤ 8
- Your student is unwilling to study economics. They are passionately committed to their own economic (or political) ideal and have no interest in learning about the economic concerns of the world.
- Your student does not own their own learning. They lack time management and/or study skills and expect that a parent or teacher will walk them through each problem and assignment.
- Your student does not value academic integrity.

Your student does not yet have the foundation they need to be successful in Economics.
